

PARTNERS IN PROGRESS

The alumni partners in progress section is dedicated to highlighting the partnership between Cooley and its graduates.

21st Century Club Strongly Supported by Alumni

Even though it is a relatively recent initiative of Thomas M. Cooley Law School's Board of Directors, the 21st Century Club has gained many alumni members. The Board's Development Committee, James Vlastic (Ransom Class, 1978), John Carras (Voelker Class, 1997), Angeline Godwin Dvorak (Ostrander Class, 1994), Jeffrey Martlew (Campbell Class, 1976) and Dean Don LeDuc, decided to create the 21st Century Club as a way for the school's graduates to join together to show their support and to benefit everyone involved in advancing Cooley's mission of providing practical legal scholarship.

The need for increased alumni giving was demonstrated by a study that ranked Cooley in the bottom 4 percent of schools receiving financial support from their graduates. With the knowledge that Cooley's alumni have far more favorable feelings about their law school than that ranking suggests, the Development Committee went to work. In March 2000, the committee sent a letter to all Cooley graduates that announced the creation of the 21st Century Club.

Gifts to the club can be designated to support a large number of specific activities. In that way, graduates can make donations to those programs at Cooley that they feel are the most helpful. Support given to the 21st Century Club benefits the school, current students, and alumni. As Cooley Law School gains increasing national stature, due to the enhanced programs and the top quality students it attracts with the 21st Century Club funding, the value of the graduates' degree will be similarly increased.

There are three basic membership groups in the club. Founding members are those people who have made lifetime contributions of $2,500 or more by July 1, 2000. Founding members will be recognized by a permanent plaque displayed on the wall of the Cooley Center lobby. The founding members of the 21st Century Club are listed in the first column on the page that follows.
